Saturday. Parties wishing to get a copy of this valuable pamphlet should write or call upon the secretary and treasurer.

In the debate at Wofford College Monday evening Mr. English Camak of this county was one of the two representatives of the Preston Society. This was quite an honor to Mr. Camak for the honor is one greatly coveted among the students.

A message was received here in the early part of the week stating that Mrs. M. C. Rion, who is now visiting her daughter, Mrs. Williams, in Reading, Pa., has just suffered a stroke of paralysis. The latest information from Mrs. Williams is to the effect that her mother is now getting along better and that there is hope of her recovery.

The South Carolina College has a number of scholarships that are awarded to students who have been at the college at least a year and whose scholarship standard has not been less than proficient. The Thornwell scholarship was won this year by Mr. C. H. Neil of Winnsboro. From the very time that Charlie entered the college he has been at the very front of his class, and whenever heard from he is likely to be at the same place.

Those unsightly telephone poles are still on the street. The council does not seem to be interfering in the matter in the slightest, and much dissatisfaction is being expressed at this failure to act on the part of the city fathers. The sentiment is being freely expressed that unless they act in this matter that they will find great difficulty in having other obstacles removed. The thing to do is to have them removed. There are some other things that should be removed also.

Memorial Association.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Memorial Association at the residence of Mrs. J. Q. Davis this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

To The News and Herald and the people of Winnsboro generally: Please accept our most sincere thanks for the kindness shown us in our entertainment. We shall ever remember with pleasure our visit to Winnsboro.

The Luke School,
Anna Lou Martin,
Principal.

Distinguished.

From the published distinction list of the South Carolina College the following distinctions of Winnsboro boys are clipped:

Sophomore Class.—C. F. Davis, proficient in history, French, chemistry and physics; E. P. Davis, proficient in history, French, chemistry and physics; C. H. Neil, highly distinguished in English, Latin and chemistry; distinguished in history, mathematics and physics.

Freshman Class.—T. R. Ellison, distinguished in French; proficient in history.

Local History.

Much is being said these days about the teaching of local history in the schools, and as a matter of fact much is being accomplished along this line. Without any intention of telling tales out of school, the following incident is given to prove the truthfulness of the above statement: A few days ago at Mt. Zion the children were being asked some questions in regard to the various religions, when finally the teacher asked: "And who were the Pagans?"

"The grand-parents of the Davis' children," was the answer that immediately came from a little girl who knew about things at home as well as beyond the sea.

Business Notices.

Fresh vaccine points and shields at The Obeir Drug Co.'s.

The leading hotels of every city are using W. S. Forbes & Co.'s celebrated Mottelbelle Hams, which are mild cured. House keepers everywhere would do well to call on their grocers for these hams. Their Mottelbelle Brand is the leading brand on the market. Every package of it is guaranteed to be strictly pure and to contain nothing but hog fat.

A Hotel Marriage.

Wednesday afternoon, at the Winnsboro hotel, Mr. O. C. Jones and Miss Mand Eggleston were quietly married by Rev. J. L. Freeman in the presence of two witnesses. Mr. Jones has been in town for several weeks in the employ of the Southern Feather Cleansing Co. Miss Eggleston came here several weeks ago for the purpose of getting up a music class. The groom is from St. Louis, Mo., and the bride from Columbus, Miss. But few if any knew of their intended marriage.

Old Maids' Convention.

There was to be a meeting of those interested Thursday evening for the purpose of getting things in readiness for the Old Maids' Convention that is to be held next Tuesday evening. Miss McGhee, who is to direct this meeting of the old maids, is an experienced hand in this line of work and her entertainments have in all instances been largely attended. There should be a large attendance Tuesday evening not only for the great pleasure that is promised, but also for the encouragement of the enterprise for which it is to be given—the reading room.
